"WOMEN AND CHILDREN FIRST"

Relief Workers Striving to Save
Thousands From Death
By Starvation.

PROCLAMATION

"The seriousness of the disaster in Smyrna, at present shocking the Christian world, cannot be overestimated."

"Over seven hundred thousand refugees, including innocent women and children are facing inevitable death from starvation and exhaustion while the unspeakable Turk continues his infamous attack."

"Their city reduced to ruins, the survivors of these ghastly tortures and frightful massacres have been taken under the protecting wing of that merciful organization, Near East Relief."

"An appalling shortage of food in that stricken land however, is jeopardizing the relief activities of these American workers whose obligations have greatly increased by the addition of these starving refugees to their institutions of human salvage."

"Let it be the sacred duty of every Christian to help save these most recent victims of Turkish butchery."

ALEX. J. GROESBECK,
Honorary Chairman,
Near East Relief,
1106 Stroh Bldg.,
Detroit, Mich.

Detroit—Blame whom you will for the Smyrna horror; the least Americans can do is to contribute promptly and generously to the Smyrna Emergency Fund of the Near East Relief. From Constantinople headquarters, Director Jaquith of this organized American relief agency for Anatolia (chartered by Congress), was sent immediately to Smyrna on a United States destroyer with a medical unit and supplies. Responding to the request of the State Department to do its utmost, Near East Relief advanced $25,000 and then a second $25,000, first in food, medical supplies and stores collected at Constantinople for its regular orphanage work; and since the fire, some steamers besides destroyers have been secured to transport refugees.

The first call came to fight conditions in a city overwhelmed by a flood of refugees ahead of Kemal's army of occupation. The call now is to feed temporarily hundreds of thousands of refugees—homeless, helpless men, women and children—and convey them to places of greater safety; where they will not starve to death or breed pestilence.

It is impossible to exaggerate the terrible conditions of the Smyrna emergency, say the cable reports. Refugees are pouring into all coast towns of Anatolia as they did at Smyrna. More than 75,000 have reached the Rodosto in Thrace where they fear repetition of Smyrna's experience. The refugee problem at Constantinople is again acute. Co-operation of every American agency over there—governmental and philanthropic—is active in meeting an unprecedented emergency of human need. "Women and children first" is the rescue policy. From the Smyrna quay 400 orphan boys have been taken to Constantinople, and Americans on the job rightly count on us folks back home to supply the necessary dollars for such humanitarian service, as we have never yet failed to do for the honor of our country's name throughout the world.

Send checks for this special Emergency Relief Fund marked "Smyrna," to Near East Relief, 1106 Stroh Bldg., Detroit, Mich.

Didn't Enjoy It.

Young Harley was home for a few days from a cruise with the merchant marine. "Well," said the man from the home town geniality, "how have you been enjoying maritime life?" "I haven't been enjoying it at all, sir," answered the youngster, blushing, "she broke the engagement."—Pioneer Enterprise.
